

Access guide for Woven Tongue

Woven Tongue is an exhibition held in the second gallery of Eastside Projects.

It is through a grey door marked 'This Way For More Art.' You will need to push the door away from you to enter and pull the door towards you with a handle when you leave. If you need assistance to use the door – please ask at the front desk.

There are yellow stools which you are welcome to use to sit on, they can be moved around to where you would like to sit in the space.

There are a collection of terracotta pieces on the corner of the floor, they are marked with a black circle.

There are no sounds, video or flashing lights in Woven Tongue.

The lights are white overhead strip lights.

If you need any further assistance, do let the person on the desk know.
